

This Polaroids, taken on ruined – expired – stock, represent an experimental stage of the process only and combine imagery of the Bank with images shot off of a screen of protests at the Bank occurring in the wake of the financial crash of 2008. Others were taken in the Sir John Soane Museum, London.

Ian Wiblin

